

NEWLY QUALIFIED PHARMACIST PROGRAMME

Newly qualified pharmacist programme

The overall aim of the Newly qualified pharmacist programme is to support you to develop, and demonstrate, confidence and competence in core areas of pharmacy practice. The programme will springboard your development beyond meeting the initial standards of education and training and enable you to develop the attributes that pharmacists of the future will need to deliver increasingly complex clinical care.

Why do newly qualified pharmacists need support?

For all healthcare practitioners, the move into professional practice is complex and demanding. It includes a period of intense learning of new skills, knowledge, and behaviours. Newly qualified pharmacists need to adapt to a new phase in their career, and will experience the responsibilities of professional judgment and accountability. Newly qualified pharmacists have described 'lack of confidence', 'decision making', 'managing professional relationships', 'being in charge', and 'adapting to the workplace' as the greatest challenges they face.¹ For those working in community pharmacy, the transition from a trainee to a fully qualified pharmacist can be even more challenging as they adapt to working in isolation from experienced peers while taking on the role of the responsible pharmacist.

What does the programme include?

The programme takes a blended learning approach and offers a comprehensive mix of online learning activities, workshops, assessment and work-based support. You will be allocated a designated CPPE education supervisor, who will review your progress in practice and provide you with feedback and support. With their help, you will develop confidence and competence to deliver high-quality pharmacy services.

What learning areas does the programme cover?

The programme includes the following online modules:

- Module 1: Person centred care and collaboration
- Module 2: Clinical knowledge, skills and decision making
- Module 3: Leadership and management
- Module 4: Education and research

Who can apply?

Pharmacists employed or locuming in community pharmacy (except Boots), primary care or health in justice who have registered with the GPhC since 2020. Pharmacists who have registered before 2020 and are returning from a career break or changing sectors are also eligible to apply.

Why should I apply?

1. Kickstart your professional career

Choose the Newly qualified pharmacist programme as the first step in your post-registration professional development journey. The programme is designed to support you to deliver safe and effective patient care at this pivotal stage in your career as you transition from a trainee to a fully qualified pharmacist.

2. Structured professional development

The programme introduces you to the fundamentals of being a successful and competent pharmacist through a series of online learning modules, self-reflection, assessments, and education supervisor support.

3. Evidence of readiness for Independent Prescribing (IP) training

The Newly qualified pharmacist programme will support pharmacists to demonstrate readiness to enrol on an IP course.

The experience and awareness gained from the programme will enable you to recognise, understand and articulate the skills and attributes required by a prescriber, and support you to create a portfolio of evidence linked to the RPS Post-registration Foundation Curriculum outcomes.

4. Trusted, high-quality learning

For 30 years, CPPE has been the go-to source for postgraduate pharmacy education and training. The Newly qualified pharmacist programme is one of the latest additions to the CPPE portfolio.

5. Increase your confidence

Learners tell us they are more confident pharmacists as a result of completing a structured training programme with CPPE. They have had the opportunity to develop and improve their intrapersonal, clinical, and patient-centred skills in a supportive environment.

How do I apply?

Feedback from pharmacists who have previously completed the programme with CPPE

"I felt like it gave me information on different things throughout the year that I perhaps wouldn't have thought about in my first year of qualification - such as the time management, leadership and consultation skills."

"I loved having support from my education supervisor. She was excellent. I am so grateful to have had the opportunity to study on this course and I feel I have grown so much through the year."

"These past 12 months have been a big learning curve for me as a qualified pharmacist, and the programme has had a huge positive impact on my practice."

"The programme provided me with a structure for training and CPD throughout the year and I do think it has improved my confidence as a pharmacist."
